Phased Retirement for Faculty

Summary Plan Description

A. Introduction

The following description is of a phased retirement plan for regular faculty of Clark University. The faculty member will enter into an agreement with the University to retire at a specified date in the future, and to reduce overall workload during the phased period of one semester to three years. The specific terms of an agreement will be arranged between the individual faculty member and the Provost, to the mutual agreement of both parties. It is anticipated that specific agreements for individuals will differ.

B. Establishment of the Plan

This Summary Plan Description sets forth the provisions of the University's Phased Retirement Plan for faculty, established by Clark University as of September 1991. Funding for this plan is provided from the University's general operating funds.

C. Eligibility

Participants must be tenured faculty with ten years of service at Clark University who have attained age 59. A year of service is defined as two semesters of full-time employment, including semesters of sabbatical leave and leave for pregnancy, but excluding other leaves of absence.

D. Salary

Salary in the first year will be 50-70% of full-time salary. Annual increases for phased retirees will be equal to the average increase for full-time faculty in their rank.

E. Work Responsibilities

In no case is it expected that the overall workload will be less than half that of a full-time faculty member. The teaching load shall be 40-60% during the period for phased retirement. Non-teaching responsibilities will be determined by mutual agreement of the faculty member and the Provost prior to the commencement of the individual phased retirement agreement.

F. Benefits

Faculty will be eligible for full benefits except sabbatical leave, life, and long-term disability insurance. The University's contribution to TIAA/CREF and Social Security shall be based on actual salary paid.

The University's contribution to the faculty member's health insurance plan will be equal to that for full-time faculty. If an individual is restricted by the health insurance carrier from continuing enrollment in their current health insurance plan, the University will allow its regular contribution toward another plan. If the faculty member is no longer eligible for one of the University's health plans and not eligible for Medicare, then he/she may:

1. Convert to the non-group, direct pay, bill-at-home plan (if provided by the carrier), with the University contributing its regular contribution to the plan, or
2. Take advantage of the Consolidated Omnibus Reconciliation Act (COBRA) option and remain in one of Clark's regular health insurance plans for up to 18 months, after which time convert to the non-group, direct-pay, bill-at-home plan (if provided by the carrier), with the University contributing its regular contribution to the plan.

Continued eligibility for any health insurance plan is subject to the policies and practices of the carrier.
