Where will my refund be sent?

Direct Deposit

You have the power to indicate where you want your refund check to be sent. Direct deposit is a safe and easy way to have funds deposited directly into an account at the financial institution of your choice in the United States. Students can use Direct Deposit for Student Accounts Refunds, Fellowship Stipends, Travel Reimbursement, and Payroll Wages.

Benefits from Direct Deposit

- No lost or stolen checks or delay with the mail
- No running to the bank to deposit your funds and waiting for the check to clear
- No checking your student mail box to see if the check has arrived
- No special arrangements or fear of not receiving your money because you’re not on campus, studying abroad, or not moved into your apartment yet
- No need to go to your department to pick up fellowship stipend checks
- You’re in control

How to set up Direct Deposit

Fill-out the fillable Student Direct Deposit Authorization Form. Please note that this form must be printed, signed and returned to:

- Payroll Department - Graduate Payroll/Student Account Refunds
- Financial Aid Department - Undergrad Payroll/Student Account Refunds

Please allow a week for processing. Once received, each refund a student requests afterwards will be deposited into the student's bank account instead of a paper check being mailed.

Direct Deposit FAQs

Q: How is money deposited into my account?
A: The University's bank will electronically instruct your financial institution to credit your account for the amount owed to you on the predetermined date. Your financial institution then deposits this money into your account and charges the University's bank account. You may have an account at almost any financial institution in the United States.

Q: How can I be sure my deposit was made?
A: If you are receiving a direct deposit, you will receive an e-mail message to your Clark email account. The deposit will be reflected on your monthly statements from your financial institution.

Q: If I already have a direct deposit on file with the Payroll Department, do I need to file an additional one with the Student Accounts Department?
A: Yes, it is a different form and must be submitted to the Financial Aid Department for Undergraduates and to the Payroll Department for Grad students.

Q: What if I terminate or close my account?
A: Update your banking information by completing a new fillable Student Direct Deposit Authorization Form. Please do not close your account until the updated paperwork has been submitted. If the account is closed beforehand, it will delay receiving any refund in process.

Q: How do I make changes for direct deposit?
A: Update your banking information by completing a new fillable Student Direct Deposit Authorization Form.
Q: Do I need a bank account to use direct deposit?
A: Yes. A US bank account is necessary for you to receive direct deposit payments. Some financial institutions offer free or low-cost checking or savings accounts when you use direct deposit.

Q: With direct deposit, can the University take money out of my account or obtain confidential information about me through my deposit?
A: No! Only you can approve the withdrawal of money from your account. The University cannot obtain your account balance or any other personal information. They only have access to the information you provided when you signed up for Direct Deposit. Receiving your money through direct deposit is more confidential than being paid by check because fewer people are involved in the delivery and deposit of your payment. Note: Within a limited time, if it is determined that the refund was issued in error we will reverse the amount.
